After moving with her family to Minnesota to provide better education for her children, Lauren Lawer now works as the Business Manager for Keystone Interpreting Solutions (KIS). She was born in upstate New York and grew up 30 years there before moving to Oklahoma and then to Minnesota eight years ago.

She is happily married to her husband, Ron, for 23 years now. They both have two grown children, Natasha and David-James. They both are studying graphic design.

Lauren and Ron have always had great hearts for the missionary field. Lauren has gone on several trips to the Caribbeans and Grenada before they raised a family. She hopes to do more of the missionary work along supporting Ron with his work developing Bible translation resources through DOOR International.

Lauren loves game nights and quality time with family and friends!
